The food truck is outside of the Southgate location on 82nd Avenue and Telegraph, along the north side of the property. Southgate officials are shocked. "The calls started coming in around noon yesterday and one of the first ones we got was from the gas station and it was a close call because the gas station did not have the gas on. They shut it off so luckily for us the fire truck was not called in," said Southgate Police Chief Brian Carlson. Carlson says the truck is ready to run again but the owner needs to make sure the kitchen is not damaged. "It's a very professional job. The cabinets and everything look great, we just need to make sure it's insured," said Carlson. Anyone with information on this vandalism is urged to contact Southgate police. Police say 1d6a3396d6
