All Programs is available for free from CodePlex. It doesn't have a web interface for downloading and installing and you have to perform the setup manually, which isn't difficult but might take some time. Elements of the software application are developed by MaBa Software. All Programs is simply a light version of the Start Menu from Windows 7, which in turn is based on the Start Menu from the classic Windows 98-based operating system. Therefore, it might not be very useful for current Windows users. All Programs installs in the following steps: Extract the.zip file or click the.exe file to start the download. Right-click on the newly created shortcut to move it to the Start Menu. Right-click on the All Programs icon in the taskbar to open the menu.
