Elden Ring [32|64bit]

31 December 2012 Write a review GRAND NEWS! Happy Holidays. The Fire Drake and I are going to try and review Final Fantasy XII: The Zodiac Age this year. I cannot promise we will get that done but we will do our best. Until then, wish you all all the best in this holiday season, and we will see you in 2013! Posted by Fire_Drake Posted on 05 January 2013 Written by Fire_Drake The Fire Drake is a perfectionist who spends 99% of his time reading the latest Final Fantasy news on the Internet. He is a juggler, an emo, and enjoys long walks on the beach. Most of the time he is online. If there is a day you feel is special, this is it. The one day when you can look back on your life, on the good times, and be able to say you had more. Today is that day. For today, I have finally been able to go through with a plan I have had for over 5 years. Since 2011, I have been trying to build up the strength to ask for your help, to put the pieces together that were missing, and find a way to save Final Fantasy VII. For today, it is done. Everyone whose helped me over the years, thank you. And everyone reading this, thank you for supporting the project. The last five years have been a rollercoaster of ups and downs, and it has not always been easy to keep going. But now, the time has come to pay off everyone who helped me. Today, the original voice of Zell from FFVII, David Hayter, has agreed to participate in the project. After saving up for over five years, David has graciously agreed to read Zell's lines in the game. The original FFVII script, minus the Zell lines, can be found below, in case anyone is curious. I would like to thank you all again. This was a long journey with many ups and downs. And if I may be so bold, this marks the start of something wonderful. In the year 2013, I hope to be a better husband, father, and friend. Thanks to all, Fire_Drake THE FFVII SCRIPT BY DAVID HAYTER (Additional dialogue by Fire_Drake) bff6bb2d33
