are followed by me will be in my collection `fon_users`, and when I get the posts for the users in this collection I'd like the posts to be sorted by ID, but only those users who I follow. So if a user posts an update to their own status, it should appear first in my collection. I have a search box where a user can enter a user's name. It's like The service is in beta, and currently lets me search the users who have published posts for my favorite users. It makes sense to make it so that the posts for a user are presented in reverse chronological order, but this is how I'm afraid it will be too slow if the app is successful. What I can't figure out is how to pull from a user's posts and only pull those that the user followed. I was thinking I could use a query that looks something like: `db.fon_posts.find({user: x}).sort({post: -1})` Is it possible to make the sort only the users who the user followed? A: Yes, just add a "local" hint to your query like this: `db.fon_posts.find({user: x, '_id': {$in: }})` This will return the documents sorted by the '_id' that are in the list of the id's you want to follow.
