Student Reviews of Bothell Charter School
School Ratings & Info Description
After searching for a suitable school in Bothell for our child, we decided that the best choice was the Bothell Charter School. The school was affordable, it had a steady community of other parents, and it enabled our children to take advantage of free education in Bothell. The school provided a learning environment that was nurturing for our children and did a good job in meeting the needs of each of our children individually. We were truly impressed with the staff and their support for each of our children. The school provided weekly coaching and a yearly exam to measure their progress. We give this school an A+. If you want to get in shape and stop paying $120 a month for cable TV, here are some suggestions of how to cut the cord.
1. Get off the couch and exercise. (Time spent watching television is time you could have spent running, swimming, hiking or playing a

Using a controller to play Call of Duty on PC can lead to a few issues, but Xpadder makes things a lot easier. I had major issues with xpadder on CoD MW3 because it just wouldn't show up under the input category. Instead it showed up under mouse. So it was way harder to use then it should have been. I figured out how to fix that and now it works as it should. I have also installed Pinnacle Game Profiler from their website which is a lot easier to setup and use, with the added bonus of it actually staying setup once you click the use for the first time, unlike xpadder. I've been using this profile for about 6 months and my overall experience is that it does it's job and does a good job of both gamepads and keyboard. I hope this info helps someone. Profile is configured for an xbox 360 gamepad and works fine for me (PS4 user btw) On game launch (with profile attached) a white menu pops up with the xbox controller options(A, B, X, Y, Z), game profile name and next keybinds (up to number 8 per profile). When a game is launched, you can use the xbox controller via this menu. The next set of profiles then comes up and you can use the profile name to select one of 8 profile numbers - the order matches the the "key config" numbers in the profile (however I have read that it's possible to get them out of order this way). Then click "set up" then "confirm" and after it settles you can just press the option button to get your next keybind. The profile tells your computer that your xbox controller is either wired (B) or wireless (A). After enabling it, everything else is set to a static profile. You can use the "set keys" menu in the game to re-set the keybinds. However this isn't dynamic. I use a USB gamepad and the PC profile doesn't have all the keybinds on it. It's been awhile since I've used this profile, so let me know if I can help you out. Just thought that I'd make a new thread regarding how I set up Xpadder in Call of Duty: Modern Warfare 3 and. what I did. I hate
