

---

and the proximity alarm. Tmobile voice in the car is awesome. I also get over a mile of talk time every time I'm home with a SIM. I tried it on my very limited prepaid phone, a rogers elur. It was very well suited to my needs (no internet access) and free to use. I can't stand the phone like that, but I really like having it as an alarm clock. It has a very high volume and is really easy to grab and turn off. I'm all for it, if it works for you, why not? I also have a 4230, i4 and a regular 4230. All of them work well with the geo update. EllyC3 20-03-2019, 11:00 AM The firmware should be available on my phone and I will try to get to the download link. If it doesn't work