Field of the Invention The present invention relates to an open/close operation control method for a roof of a vehicle, an apparatus for controlling the open/close operation of a roof of a vehicle, and an open/close operation control program for a roof of a vehicle. 2. Discussion of Related Art One of the occupants of a vehicle may unintentionally open the roof during driving, causing rain, snow, or the like to enter the vehicle. In order to prevent such a problem, a mechanism for detecting that the roof has been opened and regulating the driving of the vehicle by, for example, automatically stopping the engine or stopping the ignition switch is proposed (for example, refer to Japanese Unexamined Patent Application Publication No. 2003-357138 (JP-A-2003-357138)). However, according to the mechanism in which the user operates the opening/closing handle of the roof in order to open and close the roof while the vehicle is running, an additional device such as an opening/closing handle for the roof is required, causing the roof to be complex. Thus, it is an object of the present invention to provide an open/close operation control method for a roof of a vehicle, an apparatus for controlling the open/close operation of a roof of a
